

Boating

FROSTBITE NEWS

Continuing in the same high intellectual plane that marked the first offering in this series we will discuss today the phenomenon of déjà vu....the sense of having having seen or experienced it before. Attendees at Frostbite Annual Meetings always experience this psychic sensation and depart with the definite impression that they've experienced it all before. And they're right.. It was at last year's annual meeting, and the one before that, and the one before that.

In keeping with tradition this one disregarded Roberts' Rules and went right to the treasurer's report. These amusing documents are generally certified by an accountant, but this year we couldn't find one with the courage to sign it. The members voted to redeem $200 worth of bonds by lot. This of course will be rigged.

With 19 voting members present the chair entertained nominations for commodore and about 4 ballots later we had reduced the nominees to 18. Our noble leader for the coming season will be John Field. His Number One will be Paul Drumme, with John Weld juggling the books, and same source of misinformation carrying on as secretary. Messers Clark, Shanley, and McCarthy will attempt to resemble an executive committee.

The minutes state that what followed was an "open discussion" of such matters as a formal clarification of the status of the new Rinky Dinks, reaffirming the seniority of the Interclub Dinghy.... a few thoughts on racing Turnabouts with the Rinky Dinks....and the new Olympic requirement that female participants have physical examinations. The boys thought that would be a good local rule. The formal meeting was adjourned shortly after this. Actually these meetings don't adjourn; they disintegrate. Which no doubt accounts for the Indian wrestling at 2 A.M. and the lump on the forehead of a former treasurer.

So next Sunday will see the second running of the Duxbury Pier Light Trophy with the usual Le Mans start in the Bluefish. The start will be at 12 instead of the previously stated 11 and no rules are binding until the first mark is rounded.

L.H.B.